

Empowering Youth Individuals with fewer opportunities
towards citizenship

• OBJECTIVES

General

1. Promote social inclusion youth individuals with disabilities experiencing situations of risk for their mental health and emotional well-being, with complex support needs or with fewer opportunities by other cause to ensure their rights are respected.
2. Contribute upon identity building and citizenship of persons at risk of exclusion by developing concrete actions to implement the European Pillar of Social Rights.

Specific

1. Design and create a cross-sectoral and coproduced intervention methodology between health, social services and third sector organisations to develop community-based services.
2. Upskill and reskill current professionals in the disability sector by mapping their current competences and developing evidence-based and rights-driven training packages.

e-YOUTH aims to develop a cross-sectoral (health, social services, social environment, families, community mainstream services, NGOs...) and community-based intervention methodology for youth individuals with a disability based on the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and also trying to focus on upskill & reskill and enhance the competences of young workers or young professionals in the sector.

3. Develop resources to promote personal development, autonomy and resilience of young persons with complex needs and fewer opportunities to promote pathways to promote engagement with the system.
